1,660 Veterans Seek Shelter In Wartime Houses

Victoria's housing situation remains critical a survey of housing agencies here today revealed, with 1,660 ex-service families applying for 50 wartime houses still to be completed in the area.

In addition to this Central Mortgage and Housing Ltd. has more than 400 applications for apartments being constructed under the National Housing Administration scheme, and the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee has almost 500 applications for shelter in converted army camps.

Today Central Mortgage and Housing informed the City Council that 24 buildings at Work Point Barracks on Peter Street have been declared surplus, and queried if they would be needed for shelter purposes. If not, it is proposed to demolish the buildings.

A. Palmer, executive secretary of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, said the buildings would be inspected immediately and if suitable for conversion would be taken over as the housing shortage remains acute.

Storm Lashes Massachusetts

This is all that remained of a factory at South Easton, Mass., after a wind of tornado intensity had roared through the town. One person was killed and about 15 others injured. Heavy property losses were suffered. It was one of several twisters in the eastern part of the continent during the last month.

Greek Liberal To Be Premier Athens Reports

ATHENS (AP)—Political leaders were reported reliably today to have agreed on formation of a broadened cabinet.

Generally dependable informants said the agreement, between the Populist (Royalist) and the opposition Liberal parties, provided that Themistokles Sophoulis, 86-year-old Liberal leader, would become premier.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Populist leader and present premier, would direct an inner cabinet group—the ministries of war, public order and justice—having to do with the fight on Communist-led, anti-government guerrillas.

Sophoulis had demanded the premiership for himself and the ministries of public order, war and justice for other Liberals. Tsaldaris had opposed these demands.

Their reported compromise followed parliament's postponement of a vote of confidence on Tsaldaris' one-party rightist government formed a week ago Thursday.

Shirras Hands Report On Douks To Wismer Here

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer, on whose shoulders have fallen the Doukhor problems of British Columbia, today conferred with Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and deputy Commissioner John Shirras, while he was urged by an M.L.A. from the Doukhobor area to act quickly and surely to curb the outbreaks of arson.

No details of the report of Commissioner Shirras, sent specially to Nelson to inquire into the causes of the terrorism wave, were released.

HAMBURG (Reuter)—British troops will be ordered to use force if the 4,400 'Exodus' Jewish refugees do not land at Hamburg of their own free will, Henry Vaughan Berry, British regional commissioner for Hamburg, told a press conference today.

Locked trains under military guard will take the Jews to the two camps prepared for them near Lubeck, Air Vice-Marshal Sir Hugh de Crespigny, regional commissioner for Schleswig-Holstein, added.

The Jews aboard the Ocean Vigour, first of the three ships expected to arrive, are to begin landing at 6 a.m., Sunday, it was announced. The R. unny m e d e Park is expected to dock Monday and the Empire Rival Tuesday.

The ships took the Jews back to France after they had tried to enter Palestine illegally and brought them from the French Mediterranean harbor of Port de Bouc after they had refused to land "anywhere but in Palestine."

Berry said "we hope the landing will be peaceful."

"The landing will be under the supervision of the control commission and the troops are provided only for possible help. Officials of the British frontier control will be responsible for searching the refugees for arms and explosives."

Berry said that after the check the refugees, with their luggage, will be taken to trains for the two-hour journey to Lubeck.

Troops on duty at the landing would go aboard unarmed, and arms would be used only in case of extreme emergency.

Ramadier's French Cabinet Survives Another Revolt

PARIS (CP)—Premier Paul Ramadier today chalked up a narrow victory over Parliamentary rebels as the capital faced complete work stoppage in protest against the bread ration cut.

By 292 votes to 243 the National Assembly passed a vote of confidence in the teeth of opposition headed by some of his own Socialist followers on the cabinet coal subsidy plan to avoid raising coal prices by 50 per cent. The subsidy amounted to 4,500,000,000 francs ($375,000,000).

The Prime Minister's victory has given him another lease on life, but only a short one, it was generally considered in parliamentary circles.

He was reported unofficially to be dissatisfied at the smallness of his majority today and to be contemplating resignation, but it was believed he would be persuaded to stay.

Parliament will reassemble Nov. 13 after its closing sitting this afternoon.

Many parliamentarians believed the economic and financial situation would make an emergency meeting of parliament necessary before then.

PRICES SOARING

Although the threat of a government crisis was thus eased, labor still was agitating politically against the soaring cost of living.

Union leaders were far from content with the recent cut in the bread ration, skyrocketing food prices, and official statistics putting living costs at 10 times higher than in 1938.

So they called a one-hour halt in Paris bus and subway services this afternoon. Post offices closed two hours early and will remain shut until tomorrow morning.

Caretakers of national cemeteries, most of them disabled veterans, also were on strike for pay.

LATEST Says Canada Sure Of Council Seat

TORONTO (CP)—Prediction Canada would be elected to a seat on the United Nations Security Council this coming term was made today by Faris Bey el Khouri of Syria, former president of the council, as he paused in Toronto on his way to Lake Success. The former Prime Minister of Syria will attend the convention of the General Assembly there Sept. 16.

Gandhi Breaks Fast; Next One To Death He Declares

CALCUTTA (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi has warned the warring communal factions in India and Pakistan that his next fast will "be unto death."

He ended a 73-hour fast Thursday night, started in protest against an outbreak of Moslem-Hindu violence in Calcutta, amid indications that comparative quiet was prevailing in most sections of the two new Dominions, except in partitioned Punjab.

Gandhi, regarded virtually as a saint by Hindus, broke his fast with a glass of sweet lime juice after a long conference with Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, Governor-General, and P. C. Ghosh, Premier of West Bengal; J. A. Kripalani, Congress Party president, and H. S. Suhrawardy, former Moslem premier of Bengal, with whom Gandhi is living as a demonstration of Moslem-Hindu amity.

"The Mahatma has broken his fast under strict conditions," Suhrawardy announced after the conference. "He has held important leaders in Calcutta responsible for peace in their areas."

OUTBURSTS ELSEWHERE

The awful stories of bloodshed from the Punjab have been blamed by officials for the renewed outbreaks this week in other regions of India and Pakistan.

FIRST INTO FIRE

The communal leader responsible for the next "untoward" incident, Gandhi declared, "must be the first to jump into the fire."

Officials said Calcutta had been quiet since Wednesday night. There were scattered outbreaks of violence Thursday in Bombay, New Delhi and Karachi, but the situation was described as for the most part quiet.

In the bloody Punjab, however, tales of almost unbelievable butchery were reported and officials of both India and Pakistan, fearful of worse to come, undertook joint action to restore order in the rich, divided province where virtual anarchy reigns.

One appalling case came to light with arrival of a courier from a remote section who said a small Hindu military force sent into the Shakirgarh district, 55 miles southeast of Sialkot, to protect 120,000 Sikhs and Hindus had found only 1,500 known survivors and the roads, fields and villages littered with thousands of bodies of victims. Only 2,000 were known to have escaped into adjoining Jammu state.

Railway Strike Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks (A.F.L.), announced today the Railway Express Agency had agreed to a 15½-cent-hourly wage increase for 65,000 employees. He said the agreement averts a threatened strike, which had been voted to enforce demands for the hike.

U.S., Brazil Fully Co-operate Truman Tells Congress At Rio

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—President Truman today told the Brazilian Congress he is confident that "Brazil and the United States will be faithful to a great trust on which depend the lives and liberty of so many millions of disillusioned and discouraged people."

"We are in a period in which Brazil and the United States must continue to co-operate with their sister nations of the western hemisphere in the development of a strong and concerted force for the good of mankind," he said.

The speech was the President's second formal address on Brazilian soil. He spoke at the closing session of the Inter-American Hemisphere Defence Conference at Quitandinha Tuesday.

Asserting the "problems of peace still lie ahead of us," and are more difficult than we could have anticipated," Mr. Truman proclaimed anew the United States' determination that the United Nations shall succeed despite difficulties that so far have beset its development.

"The United Nations is not a temporary expedient," he said. "It is a permanent partnership—a partnership among the peoples of the world for their common peace and common well-being."

GREAT PATIENCE NEEDED

He declared the achievement of the purpose of an effective U.N. organization "will take steadfastness of purpose, unremitting toil and infinite patience."

Dollar At 90.81½

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar dropped to the lowest price in the United States since April 25 when it sold in the free market at 90.81½ cents, off about 31½ of a cent from Thursday's closing price of 91.12½ cents.

Dealers in foreign exchange said there was no special reason to advance for the decline in the Dominion currency other than reports that there had been a pick-up in sales of securities on the New York Stock Exchange by Canadians within the last day or so.

The Canadian dollar has been fluctuating within extremely narrow bounds in recent weeks, with the discount ranging between 8 and 8½ cents.

No Further Help

OTTAWA (CP)—No further financial assistance will be given to persons of the Japanese race desiring to leave Canada and return to Japan, Labor Minister Mitchell announced today.

To date approximately 4,000 have returned to Japan, with the government providing free passage and a landing grant to persons without funds.

"After review of the existing situation, the committee of the cabinet on Japanese dispersal has decided to discontinue this provision for financial assistance at this time," said Mr. Mitchell.

The announcement indicated that there were few, if any, Japanese who now intended to return to Japan.

U.S. Housewives Warned Worst Yet To Come As Prices Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States food bill is already at the year's high, but consumers were warned today the worst is yet to come.

Only "consumer resistance" can halt the advent of $1-a-dozen eggs, $1-a-pound butter and $1-plus meat, authorities said.

Consumers, wondering how they could "resist" eating, were given a few tips by public officials and spokesmen for meat and grocery industries:

Buy the cheaper cuts of meat and learn how to cook them appealingly, buy eggs graded below "top extras"; return to the wartime leaning of spaghetti and other "substitutes"; buy fresh fruits and vegetables, almost the only foodstuffs not advancing in price currently.

Eugene Schulz, New York's markets commissioner, said retail prices were ranging from $1 a pound for porterhouse steak to 49 cents for chopped meat and "would go higher."

He predicted boosts in the prices of eggs and butter and retail trade sources said $1 butter and $1 eggs were in the offing. Butter went up two cents a pound on the New York Produce Exchange Thursday. Eggs were selling at 82 to 92 cents a dozen in New York.

Supporting the predictions of higher prices to come, futures quotations on the grain and produce exchanges hit new highs for fall and winter deliveries in most items.

Margarine Coming Back In U.S.

NEW YORK (CP)—Rising commodity prices in the United States may force the American housewife, already increasing her purchases of macaroni and spaghetti as substitutes for high-priced meats, to turn again to margarine, the product she was told to get when butter was scarce during the war.

Once the war and its rationing were over, the housewife went back to butter, despite its relatively high price. But with butter now selling in New York at 87 cents a pound—and expected to touch $1 shortly—margarine manufacturers are hopeful their product again will become popular.

Margarine sells at from 29 to 41 cents a pound, according to brand. Its makers assert it is as pure and wholesome as butter and protest high state taxes imposed on the product.

The federal tax on margarine is one-fourth of a cent a pound for the uncolored product. To circumvent the 10-cent-a-pound federal tax on colored margarine each package sold contains a capsule of coloring matter. But individual states impose their own tax, in some cases so high that margarine manufacturers claim they are being discriminated against.

Russia Removes Envoy From Greece

MOSCOW (AP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet announced today that Constantin Rodionov has been relieved of his duties as Ambassador to Greece, "in connection with his appointment to another post." The announcement did not indicate whether a successor would be appointed.

The Greek Embassy in Moscow at present is in the hands of a charge d'affaires. Greece's ambassador to the Soviet Union, Anothay Politis, officially now is on vacation. There has been no announcement indicating whether he would return.

Diplomatic observers here recalled that late in August the Soviet Union protested that its citizens in Greece, including employees of the embassy in Athens, were mistreated by the Greeks.

Landlord Sued

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago couple with four children Thursday sued their former landlord for $5,000 damages, alleging the landlord's eviction action forced them to buy a home at an "excessive" price. Eldon and Frances Painter brought the action against Robert and Vera Cmek.

Quebec, Labrador Border Puzzle

QUEBEC (CP)—The unsolved question of where Quebec ends and Labrador begins has reared its head again in a set of official maps issued by provincial department of lands and forests.

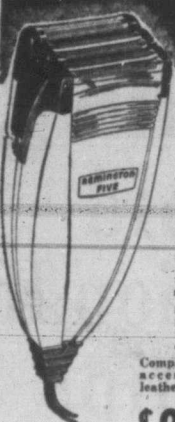

The department, after trying to find the boundary laid out in a 1927 Privy Council decision, simply threw up its hands and drew no borderline between Quebec and Labrador.

The Privy Council decision, made as a result of a dispute, said Labrador extended inland "to the height of land."

Lands and Forest Minister Bourque, however, in a statement accompanying the maps, said determination of the height-of-land line was made more difficult than ever by discovery from aerial surveys of many bodies of water whose drainage basin could not be determined.

Ottawa sources said a week ago the 184-year-old contentious question likely would remain unsettled until Newfoundland decides whether or not to join Canada as a 10th province.

Big Increase In B.C.'s Exports Sends Half Year Total Of $220,985,058 To Highest Mark In History Of Province

British Columbia today is exporting more goods and products than ever before in her history.

A summary of exports just completed by the provincial trade and industry department's bureau of economics and statistics, showed today that during the first half of this year, goods and products valued at $220,985,058 were exported from this province. During the first half of 1946 exports totaled $188,438,146. The comparable figure for 1945 was $123,738,243.

The figures indicate that barring drastic curbs during the remainder of the year, British Columbia's trade this year will rise to a record-smashing high, exceeding even the wartime high when millions of dollars worth of war goods, including ships, were exported from the province. The statistics indicate a changing picture in British Columbia's postwar trade.

While during the war United States was the largest consumer of British Columbia goods, today the United Kingdom is buying more B.C. products than any other country. During the first half of this year, goods valued at $85,812,211 were sent to Britain, an increase of more than $35,000,000 over the total for the first half of 1946. During the first half of 1945 goods valued at $16,911,431 were exported from British Columbia to the United Kingdom.

U.S. SECOND BUYER

United States, however, during the first half of this year is the second largest consumer of British Columbia goods, the value of products going south of the border from January to June inclusive this year being $37,574,581. During the first half of 1946 goods valued at $89,464,136 were sent from B.C. to the U.S., while the value of B.C. exports to the U.S. during the first half of 1945 was $82,757,824. Included in the B.C. export totals are huge quantities of products not produced in British Columbia, wheat from the prairie provinces being among the largest of these items.

Breakdown of the statistics shows that British Columbia is playing a major role in the rebuilding of war-ravaged Europe and the feeding of the starving millions of Asia.

During the first half of this year France received goods exported through B.C. ports valued at $6,551,468, while to Germany went goods valued at $1,758,513. The Netherlands received $11,418,344 worth of goods from B.C., Norway $1,176,945, Russia $2,952,548, and Switzerland $660,905.

France during the first half of this year received $1,809,622 worth of wood, wood products and paper from B.C., $3,947,039 worth of non-ferrous metals and their products and $673,531 worth of chemicals and allied products.

On the other hand almost the entire export from B.C. to Germany during the first half of this year was agricultural and farm products, the bulk of these probably being wheat.

About half of the value of goods sent to Italy during this period were agricultural and farm products. Such was also the case for the Netherlands, Norway, while Switzerland drew almost entirely on agricultural products. Belgium also drew $5,196,150 worth of agricultural products.

CHINA BIG IMPORTER

China now is one of the biggest buyers of goods shipped from this province. Of the total of $12,209,045 worth of goods received by China from B.C. during the first half of this year, $6,907,011 was listed as agricultural and farm products, $568,807 as fish and fish products; $1,736,435 as wood, wood products and paper, $825,232 as iron and iron products and $1,884,423 as chemicals and allied products.

Russia, which during the first half of 1945 received goods from B.C. valued at $28,760,878, received only $2,952,548 worth of goods from B.C. during the first six months of this year. Bulk of these goods were fish, sent to Russia from B.C. by Unrra.

United States took a wide variety of B.C. products, including $3,705,893 worth of agricultural products; $1,920,302 worth of fish and fish products; $21,649,904 worth of wood, wood products and paper; $2,668,359 worth of iron and iron products; $3,958,689 worth of non-ferrous metals and their products; $1,256,225 worth of non-metallic minerals and $3,699,190 worth of chemicals and allied products.

Britain imported more agricultural products from B.C. than anything else, the value of these products being $55,069,953. Ranking second were wood, wood products and paper, which during the six-month period this year were valued at $24,537,893. Also imported by Britain from B.C. were $4,038,335 worth of fish and fish products, $1,529,750 worth of non-ferrous metals and their products and $518,649 worth of chemicals and allied products.

While China was the largest Asiatic consumer of products shipped from B.C., British India received from B.C. during the first half of 1947 products valued at $2,641,968; the Philippine Islands received goods from B.C. valued at $7,117,453, and Hongkong $1,746,699.

EMPIRE TRADE AGAIN

During the first half of this year there was an indication that trade within the British Commonwealth, disrupted by the war, was being re-established. Elre took B.C. products valued at $1,317,836; Southern Rhodesia $803,850; Union of South Africa $7,434,748; Australia $9,002,021; New Zealand $1,684,204, and Palestine $2,685,802.

Bulk of British Columbia's exports to terrorist-ridden Palestine were wood, wood products and paper.

Of the total of $220,985,058 worth of products sent from B.C. to almost every country of the world, just over one-half, $116,282,681, went to British Commonwealth countries.

While lumber and wood products, including paper, are the most valuable B.C.-produced article of export, the classification of agricultural and farm products ranks first in the bureau's list because of the heavy wheat and flour shipments from this coast.

The bureau for the first half of this year reported agricultural products valued at $96,972,488 had been exported from B.C. Total value of the wood, wood products and paper classification exports was listed at $78,712,770. Other classifications are as follows: Iron and iron products, $2,668,359; non-ferrous metals and their products, $1,416,189; non-metallic minerals, $1,461,528; chemicals and allied products, $1,177,738; and fish products, $15,392,619.

EXPORTS VARIED

This list of export products is tremendously varied because of the diversified production of British Columbia.

For instance, to Argentina during the first half of this year went $34,000 worth of B.C. seed potatoes. United States took $67,094 worth of them, bringing the total value of this export for the first half of this year to $121,184.

B.C. during the same period also exported $79,600 worth of potatoes to Hongkong. Flower seeds worth $8,047 were exported, along with vegetable seeds worth $27,013, and flax seed worth $20,000.

Fur farms of the province contributed to the export total. Biggest of these items shipped during the first half of this year were undressed mink skins valued at $530,953, and martin skins valued at $103,951. U.S. took most of them.

B.C. purebred cattle are also being sent to the far corners of the earth. During the first half of this year 1,497 head, valued at $280,485, were shipped from the province, U.S., China and Australia being the largest consumers in that order.

Developed here to aid the logging industry, B.C.-built power saws now are an export item. During the first half of this year almost $500,000 worth of them were shipped, U.S. being the largest importer.

Trade Union Congress Approves Policy On Steel Nationalization

SOUTHPORT, Eng. (AP)—The powerful Trades Union Congress approved today the government's "go-slow" policy in nationalizing Britain's iron and steel industry.

After being assured the government had not abandoned this project, delegates representing more than 7,000,000 workers at the 79th annual T.U.C. conference overwhelmingly rejected a resolution to force it through the next session of Parliament.

"I have been assured by the Minister of Supply that there has been no change of policy in regard to the nationalization of iron and steel," President George Thompson told the delegates.

"Necessary legislation is being prepared, but it is too early to say whether it will be possible to include it in the program for the next session."

With its card ballot of 4,837,000 to 2,360,000 votes against the resolution, the T.U.C. aligned itself with Prime Minister Attlee and a majority of labor M.P.'s who voted down a similar move last month in a parliamentary Labor Party caucus.

The government already has announced its intention of nationalizing the industry sometime before 1950, but some left-wing labor supporters, including a small group in the Attlee cabinet, threatened a party schism unless immediate action was taken during the session of Parliament opening next month.

British Watching 2 Ships Believed Loaded With Jews

LONDON (AP)—British authorities said they were keeping track today of the movements of two more ships believed headed for Palestine with unauthorized Jewish immigrants.

A Foreign Office spokesman Thursday night identified the vessels as the Northland, coasting eastward along North Africa, and the Paducah, understood to be at Varna, Bulgaria, on the Black Sea.

He said the vessels, carrying crews of English-speaking Jews with United States passports, had sailed from Bayonne, France, the Northland Aug. 28 and the Paducah earlier.

The spokesman said the Foreign Office had failed this week to get France to take some 4,400 European Jewish refugees turned back from Palestine in mid-July and now headed for Hamburg, Germany, aboard three British transports. They are due in Hamburg Sunday.

The Foreign Office, he reported, asked the French government informally to let Britain land the Jews in northern France, but the French answered no facilities were available there for proper care of the refugees.

Child Burned To Death

VANCOUVER (CP)—Six-year-old Marion Scott died in the flames which swept her suburban Burnaby district home early today.

Allen Scott, 35, the father, suffered severe burns in saving his other daughter, eight-year-old Carol. Mrs. Scott was spending the night with neighbors. The home was completely destroyed.

Mr. Scott told firemen he was awakened by the sound of flames above him and realized the blaze was in the attic. He ran back into the building twice in vain efforts to locate six-year-old Marion, whose body later was found beside her bed.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

85-Year-Old Man Wants To Return To Gold Claims

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Rescued from almost certain death by starvation and illness in a lonely bush cabin, William Cameron, 85-year-old prospector, announced today from his hospital bed he wants to go back to his 15 staked claims where "there's gold for sure."

The veteran gold-hunter who claimed he once made a $200,000 fortune in the Klondike was in a coma when Tack Township police discovered his plight.

Too weak from influenza to drag himself to the ample food stocks in the corner of his shanty about 12 miles from this northern Ontario gold-mining community, he barely opened his eyes when the officers tried to rouse him. He had collapsed when illness came upon him suddenly. His two dogs, themselves gaunt with hunger but too loyal to loot the larder, crouched by his side.

A friendship of 20 years' standing with Chief Constable Reginald Pinegar of Tack Township probably saved his life. The chief became worried when his old friend failed to make his monthly trip to Kirkland Lake about the first day of the month and with Constable C. Beswetherick he set out to investigate.

Cameron was mayor of Edmonton during the First World War.

(Retired), of Toronto, who was Director of Operational Intelligence.

Chile Cuts Imports From This Country

MONTREAL (CP)—Mariano Bustos, Chilean consul-general here, announced today that because of shrinking dollar reserves, his country is imposing temporary prohibition on a wide range of "luxury" imports from Canada. The restrictive decree will expire Dec. 31.

Among products and manufacturers affected by the decree are industrial, commercial and domestic refrigerators, gas and electric heaters, pottery, glassware, lumber, hunting and fishing equipment, some textiles, domestic radios, builders' hardware, plumbing supplies, cutlery, flour-milling machinery, footwear, dyes, perfumes and toothpaste.

Heavy machinery, agricultural implements, newsprint, rubber and chemical products are not affected by the decree, Mr. Bustos said.

London Musicians Protest Importation

LONDON (AP)—London musicians demanded today that the Labor Minister stop the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra from playing during the coming Covent Garden opera season. The protest against entry of foreigners into the British field was made by the London Orchestral Association, speaking for 2,000 musicians.

Emergency Program

To Haul German Harvest

BERLIN (AP)—British and U.S. occupation authorities announced today an emergency transport program to bring in this year's harvest.

They gave German provincial governments in the bizonal area power to requisition supplies and any transport vehicles not being used for essential purposes.

The Mediterranean coastline of Italy measures 1,800 miles.

Dutch Give Plaque To Lt. Gen. Foulkes

OTTAWA—A plaque commemorating his valuable services to The Netherlands was presented to Lt. Gen. C. Foulkes in the name of Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands by The Netherlands ambassador, Dr. J. H. van Royen, on Thursday in The Netherlands Embassy here.

The bronze plaque, which is a personal gift of the prince, represents the dove of peace flying over Holland while the crooked Nazi cross lies broken by the Canadian sword. The legend reads: "Lt. Gen. C. Foulkes, C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O., in grateful memory — Bernhard."

10 Injured In Clash Of 2 Jewish Groups

JERUSALEM (AP)—Members of Hagana, underground Jewish defence organization, battled in the streets of all-Jewish Tel Aviv today with members of the Jewish underground Irgun Zvai Leumi. Ten persons were injured.

The clash occurred when the Hagana group, whose organization has vowed to fight Holy Land terrorism, tore Irgun posters from the walls of buildings. Irgunists, whose organization has claimed responsibility for recent Palestine violence, gave battle.

Tel Aviv police reported, meanwhile, that a young Jew and a Jewish girl claiming to represent the Stern gang, a small Jewish underground unit, had delivered an ultimatum personally to 18 Jewish officials of the Palestine income tax department to resign within 96 hours or face drastic consequences. Special guards were assigned immediately to the 18 officials.

The attempt to bring about the large-scale resignations was viewed by authorities as another step in the Stern gang's announced policy of sponsoring non-payment of taxes by Palestine's Jews.

C.C.F. VISION OF THE FUTURE

CANADIANS WHO OBJECT TO BEING "pushed around" will be interested to know that when and if the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Party assumes office in the national capital of this country it will at once inaugurate a substantial program of socialization. At its meeting in Toronto on Wednesday its National Council decided that the first instalment would include the nationalization of banking, iron and steel, and the varied industries embracing the manufacture of farm implements and the products of all meat packing enterprises.

The national secretary of the C.C.F., Mr. David Lewis, accepts responsibility for the announcement of policy noted in the above verbal picture of what Canada in the business sense would look like after the first session of a C.C.F. administration at Ottawa. And he was nothing if not enthusiastic and optimistic as to the political prospects of his party when he said at the termination of the two-day session of the National Council that the program he had outlined was "an important step in preparing the party's program for the next election."

Housing, transportation, coal and nickel mining, Mr. Lewis condescendingly intimated, were other activities that were being studied by the brain trusters of the C.C.F.

For the benefit of those Canadians who may be somewhat intrigued by the Socialist program it should be noted that when the National Council of the Third Party meets next January it will be called upon to consider a specific list of industries that are to be given a "high priority" in the C.C.F. plan of nationalization. In the meantime, incidentally, the council will consider a health plan to overcome what Mr. Lewis described as "the serious shortage of doctors, nurses, scientists and hospital facilities." This vision of a Socialist government's parliamentary agenda is loosely described as merely part of the first phase of party policy.

All the average individual Canadian will feel like saying about this meticulously-detailed plan of C.C.F. action is that it embraces so wide a field of national ambition that it is likely to be fouled by the myriad of strings which would have to be pulled by its architects. In view of what is taking place in Great Britain, moreover, Mr. Lewis has chosen an inopportune time to try to persuade intelligent Canadians that they are missing the good things of life by refusing to exchange the free enterprise system for national control of industry and C.C.F. regimentation generally.

WHY NOT BE HONEST?

HOW MUCH LONGER DO BRITISH Columbians in particular and Canadians in general propose to remain lethargic in the face of the type of propaganda which almost daily comes from the regimented press of the Soviet Union? We ask this question because the organ of the Kremlin, Izvestia, has just suggested that the United States is seeking to take up the most advantageous military-strategic positions in the Arctic "in preparation for fulfillment of a plan for world domination"—the implication being that our good friends on the south side of the 49th parallel are preparing to violate the sovereignty of Canada and to dominate this Dominion's economic and political influence as a senior member of the Britannic Commonwealth of Nations.

This is not a new theme. It has been trotted out from time to time because it has seemed to the men in charge at the Kremlin to be a means of disturbing the cordial relationships between the member states of the Commonwealth and the great American creditor nation. But what the men who control the press of Russia do not seem to understand is that the peoples of the English-speaking world are not only able to think for themselves but are also fully capable of absorbing the implications of the day-to-day developments in international affairs. In this latter respect, therefore, when Izvestia charges that there is some sinister motive in a mutual-defence arrangement which merely identifies the best interests of Canada with those of the United States it is only twanging a string on the Soviet harp which apparently never will strike the right chord in the orchestra of international unity.

Unfortunately for the peace of mind of the great majority of Canadians who desire to live in amity with the rest of the world, there are people who seem to discover a keen delight in trying to prove to a newspaper reading public that the Soviet Union is the paragon of virtue in respect of international relations. We discover, for example, a Vancouver columnist interpreting some remarks to which Mr. L. B. Pearson, Deputy Minister of External Affairs, gave voice the other day as if they were calculated to project the idea that Canada was seriously considering becoming a partner in some military arrangement with which the Soviet Union might legitimately find complaint.

Mr. Pearson meant nothing of the kind. So the columnist in question proceeded to fill out his space with an explanation of the obvious desire of Canada to join with Russia in the discovery of how it would be possible to bring about an improvement of the growth of "new varieties of seeds and of small fruit nursery stock."

The leftist writer to whom we have referred quite probably will be discreetly silent on a categorical statement which able Mr. Pearson made at a luncheon of the directors of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto on Tuesday. The incomparable "Mike" intimated to an appreciative audience that the way the veto had been abused in sessions of the Security Council of the United Nations was "absurd and something will have to be done soon if the United Nations is to live."

As we implied at the outset, it is essential in the cause of peace, and in support of arguments that Canada should and must contribute to that cause, that the newspaper-reading public be warned against verbal soporifics based on spurious ideas of what the world needs. Personal convictions that derive their force from a biased concept of realities ought to be studied and carefully analyzed by an intelligent public.

CLEAN-UP NEEDED

FOR MORE THAN A DECADE THE unsightly and unsanitary houseboats on Victoria's waterfront have attracted the attention of the City Council. Periodically, efforts have been made to secure their removal but, for humanitarian reasons and because of legal technicalities, the elimination of these eyesores has never been completed.

Now the elected representatives of this community, under the vigorous leadership of Ald. F. N. Cabellu, are making another attempt to rid the harbor area of these unsightly habitations which create a fire and health menace. There is no desire on the part of the authorities to deal harshly with those who live in the structures. Nor are officials unaware of the difficulties faced in securing accommodation for those who would have to move. But the fact remains that as long as the water-side shanties remain, they will invite tenancy. And the time is past when this condition can be condoned, not only for appearances' sake, but for the welfare of those who live in them.

The fact that previous efforts to do away with the houseboats and structures partly built over the water have been only partially successful is no indication that the current move will fail. Co-operation on the part of federal and civic authorities could solve the problem. In its new mood for action, the City Council will be expected to press home its campaign. And occupants of the undesirable accommodation can have few legitimate grounds for objection. They have known for years that they must eventually leave such shelters.

TEEN-AGE VICTIMS

A FRESH COMPLICATION HAS ARISEN in regard to the 4,400 Jewish refugees who were prevented from reaching Palestine by attempted illegal immigration and are now en route to Hamburg aboard three transports. It appears that a number of children under 16 years of age, who are members of the group, had been lured from their parents in Budapest with promises of legal entry into the Holy Land. The parents now have appealed to British authorities to rescue the boys and girls and return them to their homes. The authorities believe that as many as 200 of the teen-age youths on the ships may be in a similar category.

A Jewish Marxist Youth organization is said to have been responsible for the recruitment of the young people, and no doubt appropriate action may be taken to stop the flow of illegal immigrants at the source rather than at the Palestine end—where hardship and disappointment must necessarily ensue. The plight of the European Jewish refugees has excited the sympathy of the peoples of the world. Only the illegal, rebellious, terroristic actions of the desperate men who lead the Palestine underground have curbed world-wide good will. There can be no compromise with such anti-social, underground activity.

REMEMBERED GLORY

THERE IS SOMETHING ESSENTIALLY human in the report from New York's night court the other day concerning a man who called himself Richard Marquard. Recalling the name as that of an outstanding baseball player of 1912, the presiding magistrate asked the arrested man if he were "the famous Rube". The prisoner replied in the affirmative, said he was penniless, and received a $5 bill from the magistrate. The next day an indignant denial came from the real "Rube" that he had been involved in the affair.

It is not inconceivable that the night court character was actually named Richard Marquard. Nor is it beyond possibility that he had adopted the pseudonym of his once illustrious namesake. And the man interrogated in court may have had his own claims to fame—though they were not divulged in the news report. If his admission implies a lack of modesty, it will probably be forgiven. Men in the position in which he found himself seldom have the opportunity to don a mantle of glory.

History may say of General Patton: "He was typical of his civilization. He survived the war unhurt, to be killed by a careless driver."

In Australia, Too

LIFE IS REAL—life is earnest at Aus- tralian Universities these days. Rags are a thing of the past—in fact, the vice-chancellor of the Melbourne University, J. D. G. Medley, fears that some of the students are working too hard.

It's literally the survival of the fittest now, whether you are doing science, medicine, engineering, arts or law, writes E. W. Tipping in the Melbourne Herald.

You either work or fall by the wayside. Competition is so keen you don't get a second chance. You can't afford to waste your time.

THE REASON is the invasion—the terrific inrush into the Melbourne University of more than 4,000 ex-servicemen students resuming interrupted courses or beginning new ones under the federal government's reconstruction training scheme, which has doubled university numbers in the past two years. And the position is repeated in the other Australian Universities.

And despite the fears of those who believed that young men who had to live on their nerves in and out of action, during the war, would find it difficult to settle down to monotonous book grind, the ex-servicemen are actually setting the pace.

They took most of the honours at last year's exams in Melbourne, and had a far higher percentage of passes than the students who missed the war.

FRANK (ex-6 Div. Artillery, Middle East and New Guinea), whom I met in the quadrangle outside the library the other day, is typical of these ex-servicemen. He allows himself a pipeful away from his books as the arts building clock chimes each hour.

Frank began his law course way back in '35. He should have finished it in 1939. He didn't because in those carefree prewar days he took part in the good old university pastime best described as "messing about."

He went to his lectures, but he also took part in every form of extra-curricular activity. He had a part in commencement vaudeville, the revue, turned out with the Blacks in the football season, rarely missed a meeting of the Literature or Labor Clubs, attended every debate and every open forum of the International Relations, Public Questions, and Philosophical Societies, as well as every "common-room hop" over at Queen's.

HE SPENT FAR MORE time arguing the point over cups of coffee in the "caf", or in the chessroom in the Union than in the library, and when war came he had eight subjects, instead of the 16 needed for his LL.B.

Frank went back to his law books last year, a married man of 30, with two children. Under the reconstruction scheme the government pays him £5/5 a week besides his fees.

He flew through his four subjects last year, took first-class honors in two. You could find him down at the law end of the library even though the university was on vacation.

"All I want to do is finish and get out and earn some money," says Frank.

Those are the sentiments of the 3,000 other ex-servicemen students. And that is why the old "First term, the fresher works; second term, nobody works; third (last term) term, everybody works," atmosphere is missing from the Shop these days.

I FOUND the same "Let's get down to it and get it over" atmosphere at the new Mildura branch. They are only first-year students at Mildura (in the technical faculties—medicine, dentistry, engineering and architecture), but 60 per cent of the 560 are ex-servicemen, who have had no trouble settling down to hard study under ideal conditions in the converted R.A.A.F. camp, 360 miles away on the River Murray.

Mr. Medley says the Mildura experiment has justified itself already, because it has relieved overcrowding pressures which otherwise would have been intolerable.

He points out that there are more than 8,000 students enrolled all told now, compared with 4,000 in 1939, when there were overcrowding complaints in most faculties. Yet, all things considered, students and staff are battling through quite successfully, he says.

The Vice-Chancellor believes, however, that Melbourne University's big problem will come when the reconstruction students graduate. They will begin to go out from the end of next year on, taking not only their fees, but also their subsidies as they finish their courses.

MEANWHILE, THE SENIOR lecturer in classics, Mr. H. A. K. Hunt, a returned soldier who is more or less typical of the younger generation of lecturers and professors, says there is a closer link between staff and students nowadays than there was before the war—despite bigger classes.

Here again the ex-servicemen are making their mark. "Most of them are mature men who had to think serious/ for and about themselves during the war," says Mr. Hunt. "Most of them have been away and have thought seriously about the position of Australia in world affairs."

"You find them putting forward their own ideas at tutorials and meetings of the various clubs and societies. Some tell me that they often get more from discussions among themselves after lectures than they do from the actual lectures."

Mr. Hunt says it's no wonder such men are setting the examination pace. But he agrees with Mr. Medley that some, over anxious to catch up on missed opportunities during the war, are inclined to take a too serious attitude to their work.

What A Life!

On Foot Or Bike They See The World

From Canada's National Health Magazine

BECAUSE youth hostelling makes it possible for anyone to travel across Canada and into foreign lands for a dollar a day, it has a special appeal for "teenage boys and girls and young men and women. What is the secret? Well, youth hostelling is inexpensive because hostellers travel "under their own steam": i.e. by hiking, cycling, skiing, riding, canoeing rather than by train, automobile, or the modern airplane, which, by the way, makes it a particularly healthy method of getting about and seeing the country. It is carefree because Youth Hostels Associations provide their members with places to stop—hostels—where at the end of a day's travel one can spend a restful night for only 25 cents.

All, however, are neat and clean. All provide separate dormitories for boys and girls, separate washing facilities, a common kitchen and dining room and common cooking facilities. The larger ones provide overnight accommodation for as many as 20 boys and 20 girls.

HOUSE PARENTS All youth hostels are supervised by resident house parents, who have been carefully chosen by the association and are responsible persons with a lively interest in young people. They are usually the same farmer and his wife who have placed a part of their home at the association's disposal. They act as chaperons, provide much of the needed equipment for the hostel and are helpful in a thousand different ways. For their trouble, they receive the small overnight fee of 25 cents per hosteller.

FAMILIAR TRIANGLE

There are more than a hundred such youth hostels in Canada and there will be more when the next summer season gets under way. There are several thousand throughout the world. The Canadian ones can be recognized by the green and white triangle bearing the letters "C.Y.H." that hangs by the roadside. All of the hostels are at the disposal of members of the association on presentation of a "pass" or membership card. Over the years these passes have come to be international passports.

In Canada, youth hostels are usually farmhouses, chosen to form links in chains and about 15 miles apart. Hostellers want to go places! Most hikers in the C.Y.H. think nothing of walking 15 miles a day; cyclists of biking two, three or even four times that distance.

The fundamental idea behind youth hostelling is to permit young people to travel throughout their own and neighboring countries with the minimum of trouble and expense. Naturally, youth hostels, like their big cousins, the resort hotels, vary as to the accommodation provided.

Upon joining the association, each member is handed his pass. This pass is presented to the house parent when the traveler arrives at a hostel and is signed and returned to him when he leaves—provided everything is in order. The house parent may retain the pass, however, for good and sufficient reason and must report any irregularity to the regional executive committee.

BREACHES RARE

Retention of the pass may mean temporary or permanent loss of the membership privileges. However, breaches of the rules of good conduct have been very rare, and this fact speaks well for the sense of co-operation and responsibility among hostellers. We sum it all up in the slogan, "Leave the hostel better than you found it."

The idea of youth hostelling was imported into Canada and the United States from Europe, where it has flourished for many years. The first Canadian youth hostel was established in the province of Alberta 12 years ago. Since that time, the movement has grown vigorously.

BRITAIN'S dynamic foreign minister and labor leader, Ernest Bevin, has many American admirers but he doesn't appear to have added to their admiration by his astonishing recommendation that, in the interests of world economic rehabilitation, the United States redistribute abroad the huge gold reserve now buried at Fort Knox, Ky.

Bevin made his proposal in a speech before the British Trades Union Congress, and he prefaced it with the remark that he knew the United States would be "upset" by what he was about to say. He was right in anticipating strong reaction but wrong in his estimate of the nature of the reaction. It takes more than that to "upset" the United States. However, it isn't overstating the case to say that Americans were flabbergasted at the proposal. Washington treasury officials characterized it as "cockeyed."

One said: "If other countries want our gold, they can have it—the same way we got it from them—by laying the money on the line at our price of $35 an ounce."

However, that may not be the end of the exchange of words. An authoritative American source in London says Bevin's idea is that redistribution of the Fort Knox gold should be an integral part of the Marshall Plan. So we may hear more about the matter.

Meantime the proposal has served to centre American attention on the difficulties which Britain's government is encountering in dealing with its own grave economic crisis. How much is Britain depending on Fort Knox gold to pull it through? Just how is the Attlee government's own program working out? Can Socialistic nationalization cope with the crisis? Those are logical questions which the British public itself is anxiously studying.

Nationalization of the country's most important industry—coal mining—hasn't brought Utopia to the mines. Some half hundred Yorkshire pits are closed as the result of wildcat strikes which have thrown about 60,000 men out of work and have greatly aggravated the critical fuel shortage. The walkout has caused a loss of 300,000 tons of coal and the loss is continuing at the rate of 60,000 tons daily.

The result is that production in other industries has been curtailed, and the effect of the coal shortage is being felt throughout the country. The dispute may soon force 2,400 Yorkshire industrial plants, employing over 100,000 workers, to shut down for lack of fuel.

Continuation of this stoppage of vitally-needed coal production can come close to wrecking Britain's recovery program. It is an anxious moment.

IMPOSSIBLE

Winnipeg Free Press
It may be deplorable that famine prices should have to be paid for food for the starving populations of Europe. But that could have been prevented only by the maintenance of price control for a considerable period after the war, and that was politically impossible.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE!

Windsor Star
The city solicitor of a western Ontario municipality, a news item relates, went into a garage to get change for the parking meter, and returned to find a police tag on his car. That's all we know, and it leaves us wondering what the city solicitor did about it.

WHY NOT MARGARINE?

Toronto Saturday Night
If Canada is to go on selling the produce of its industrial labor on a world market in competition with the produce of nations which keep down the cost of living by the use of an excellent butter substitute, we shall be compelled eventually to adopt the same method, and the sooner we do so the better.

HERE'S YOUR PARTY!

Ottawa Citizen
Promising indeed are the possibilities for female education opened up by that remark of a British post office official, that telephone operators are much sought after in marriage because their training inculcates "the need for courtesy, accuracy and efficiency."

So it does, when you think of it: and, above all, the need for brevity of speech. How admirable must that wife be, what an ornament of her sex, who confines her remarks, courteously, accurately and efficiently, within the limits commonly imposed on telephone girls!

Before The Beginning

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

IT SEEMS that, the other day, Comrade Georgi Fedorovich Alexandrov, propaganda chief of the Russian Communist Party, was caught at the bottom of a very serious backslide. On the second thought of some of the party's more philosophical bigwigs it was decided that he had gone metaphysical on them.

Comrade Alexandrov, you see, wrote a book on pre-Marxian philosophy. But he apparently made the mistake of saying that there were some rather Marxian thinkers before Marx, and that Marxism was an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary development.

This repudiation of the traditional story of communism's birth seems to have been a serious matter. Mr. Stalin gave it his personal attention. He called the party's central committee, which in turn summoned 84 philosophers from all over Russia.

SHARED MISTAKES

Andrei Zhdanov, the central committee's secretary and a philosopher himself, got the job of putting the heat on Comrade Alexandrov through a piece in Pravda. This must have been a little embarrassing because, as Mr. Zhdanov admitted, the book "received the recognition of the majority of our leading philosophers and was praised in numerous reviews." This could—only mean, he concluded, that other philosophers were sharing Alexandrov's mistakes, which indicated "serious trouble on our theoretical front."

It will be recalled that the party has had trouble on its theoretical front before. Shostakovitch, the composer, has been reprimanded on several occasions when some tone-deaf politician would suddenly decide that a new Shostakovitch work was trivial or counter-revolutionary. Russian playwrights from time to time have been raked over the coals because their output was decadent, or showed the insidious influence of bourgeois philosophy.

QUITE A STRAIN

The total renunciation and de-nunciation of the non-Communist world must put a strain on an inquiring mind. The physical and mental isolation of the average Russian is, in theory, almost as complete as that of the average Japanese before Admiral Perry rang up the Oriental iron curtain almost 100 years ago.

Today's Russian is asked to believe, in effect, that thought began with Marx and life with the October Revolution of 1917. He must militantly condemn and reject all outside political thought and almost all foreign artistic thought and creation. Even the materialistic creations of non-Communist society must be admired with extreme moderation.

The Kremlin obviously has a hard job as well as a burning ambition. While it strives to communize the world, it must also engage in the ceaseless task of selling and reselling its own people on the wonders of communism. Probably the job isn't made any easier by the fact that some of the boys got out and saw how the other half lived while they were doing their trick in the army.

Negative--'Amber'

Edmonton Bulletin

Like most other stories that gain notoriety through exploiting sexual misbehavior, "Forever Amber" is unspeakably tedious. Like most books that are merely dirty, it is deadly dull.

For consistent and repetitive sinning is doubtless the most wearisome thing on earth. The only incident that could be added to make it interesting would be a scene in which Amber said "No."

If it is desired to impress on the young the unutterable tedium of loose living, let the young read "Forever Amber."

Bomb Rocks Tokyo, Hangover From War

TOKYO (AP) — A 500-pound bomb which U.S. airmen dropped on Tokyo during the war finally exploded with a blast that broke windows and was heard 10 miles away.

Otherwise, U.S. demolition experts, who blew it up Tuesday after toiling in vain to remove the fuse and disarm the bomb, kept everything under control.

The demolition crews had difficulty removing the bomb because it was buried 25 feet in the ground. Experts attached a charge to the outside of the bomb and detonated it from a distance of 1,000 yards.

Tells Rotary Club Young Ideas, Also Foresight, Essential

Older people must keep young ideas and look ahead. Rilea W. Doe, Oakland, Calif., Rotarian and member of the Rotary International 1949 Convention Committee, told a meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club during his address on "Don't Be Your Age," at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

"I'm critical of old age when it is simply and solely a state of mind," said Mr. Doe who humorously blamed this fault on womankind.

The mother's influence came first. If a child was hurt, the "Now don't cry... be a big boy," ages the children. When they get away from their mothers the men get married and the next stage is the wife who admonishes her skittish husband. "John, for heaven's sake be your age!"

He warned against the tendency of older people to take things a little more easily and urged they remain aggressive and young in order to get ahead. "We must never become static. We dare not because change is all around us. The man who is always looking backwards has the viewpoint of the fellow who drives through life using a rear-view mirror. We must cling to youth's attitude... one of optimism in looking at what is ahead."

It was the same optimism of youth which won the war, Mr. Doe believed. Now the youth is back some of the members in its ranks want to step in and makes the changes. "Are we guilty of saying 'now, mind your own business'?" Mr. Doe inquired.

He turned to Rotary's duties. It was conceived in unselfishness, he said, and gives the members the privilege of demonstrating to their community they have an unselfish attitude and a desire to be of benefit to that community. One of the important things in Rotary, he concluded, was to keep young ideas.

71st Annual Fall Fair Opens Today At Duncan

DUNCAN—It's Fall Fair Day in this up-island town and people have come by the hundreds for miles around to display the fruits of their labors on farms and gardens, large and small.

They began arriving at 10 in the morning and are still pouring in for the 71st annual fair of the Cowichan Agricultural Association which opened this afternoon and will not conclude until tomorrow.

The assembly section of the Agricultural Society's hall is a sea of long tables on which repose exhibits of prize peas and beans, great marrows and squash, round red apples, polished until they glint, and pears of all varieties grown in the district.

Housewives eagerly "do" the domestic science section to see whose pickles and preserved fruits look the best. They do not need to have an exhibit entered themselves to take an interest in the show.

"We believe this year the society has its fullest catalogue of divisions and its greatest number of trophies and prizes," said one of the committee in charge.

Numerous entries and all of the best grade are ready for judging in the livestock displays. During the last few years the standard of the livestock in the district has improved tremendously, with most herds being purebred and standard stock, according to the directors.

Great interest has been shown in the fair this year as it is the first to be held since 1941. First fall fair of the society, which is the oldest agricultural association in the province, was held at Maple Bay in 1871. It was an annual event until 1941, when the society was forced to abandon it, because the hall and grounds had been taken over for army use and other accommodation could not be found.

The fair opened today and much of the judging took place but the formal opening will be on Saturday when His Honor Lieutenant-Governor C. A. Banks performs the official opening ceremonies. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Banks.

Indian Summer Draws Tourists To Sooke District

SOOKE—An increased amount of traffic on the Sooke roads which lead to Jordan River and the West Coast Road, has been evident for the past few weeks.

The week-end brought many tourists to all the hotels, chalets, and places of business in Sooke.

As in previous years, from now on, until the end of Indian summer, many local travelers, as well as tourists, will find their way to this end of the island where they can get a glimpse of Cape Flattery and enjoy the tang of the sea and know the Pacific Ocean is not far away.

Seek Fare Increase On Vancouver Trams

VANCOUVER (CP)—Increased fares for the Vancouver transit system of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. will be sought sometime this year, "possibly in October," Bruce Robertson, company counsel, said Thursday night.

He stated the increase, if granted by the Public Utilities Commission, would take care of current deficits. He made no mention of the amount to be applied for.

The boost would take care of "an expected $1,300,000 deficit in this year's operations; meet an $850,000 deficit stemming from last year's union agreement; provide for costs of a possible reduced hours of work week and provide a "highly-improbable return," Mr. Robertson said.

The application was made necessary, he added, because "the union won't co-operate with us in expansion plans by allowing us to get our heads above water."

ARION CLUB REHEARSAL

Rehearsals of the Arion Club will begin Monday in the Arion Club rooms as usual. Any new members will be welcome, and are asked to get in touch with the secretary, president or Frank Tupman, conductor.

New Navy Entries At Whiffen Spit

SOOKE—Lieut. H. H. MacDonald, R.C.N., arrived at Sooke Harbor by launch, Saturday, bringing a Gatineau Division of New Entries from H.M.C.S. Naden, which sailed from Esquimalt in two cutters.

They billeted on Whiffen Spit. Their fires and lights made an attractive point, along with a full moon shinning on the harbor at night, during a very calm week-end. They returned Monday to Esquimalt.

Sooke Athletic Club

SOOKE — The executive of Sooke Athletic Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Gray when it was decided to hold a general meeting in Sooke Community Hall Thursday evening at 8.

All those interested in basketball are asked to attend. At this meeting a secretary will be elected to replace Charles Crawford, who is leaving the district. Mrs. Wm. Cairns is acting secretary.

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B₁, C, D, Riboflavin (B₂), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underperforms, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

Walt Disney Artist On Brief Visit Here

Ask Sylvia Holland to draw you a quick sketch of Mickey Mouse and she will probably move her expressive artist's hands in quick refusal and tell you there are many artists at the Walt Disney studio who draw the famous Mickey much better than she does.

But mention the graceful flying horses that floated through the Beethoven Pastorale in Disney's "Fantasia," or the delicately lovely blossom fairies that danced and skated into the hearts of audiences everywhere in the Nutcracker Suite's "Waltz of the Flowers" in that same "Fantasia," and Sylvia Holland will pick up a thick drawing pad and pencil and sketch you horses or fairies in a few rapid strokes.

For this clever artist worked on all the sketches of the flying horses when "Fantasia" was in production and was story director and in charge of sketches in the flower fairy sequence.

It was 11 years ago that Sylvia Holland, with her young daughter and son, left Victoria to go to Hollywood.

"Not because of its glamor," she tells you, "but because I had always been interested in art and felt Hollywood would be the right place to get a start in that line."

Soon after reaching the movie capital, she saw Walt Disney's film "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

"The treatment was so startlingly new," she tells you with a flashing smile, "I wanted to do something of the sort. So, I went to the Disney Studio and asked for work."

She was turned down because of lack of experience.

To gain that experience she went to work at Universal Studio as an inker in the cartoon department.

WITH DISNEY

A few months later she went back again to Walt Disney, got a place in the story department and continued to work with him until just a few months ago when union wage increases resulted in a major close-down at the studio.

"Especially amongst the pre-production staff," Sylvia Holland says.

"You see we were the experimenting group, the story specialists. Perhaps you might call us the stage setters."

"We took Walt Disney's ideas and worked them out. Then returned them to him for further discussion. Sometimes it took months to whip a new idea into shape.

Sylvia Holland, former resident of Victoria, sketch artist and story writer in famous studios.

"We were the luxury group and could more easily be dispensed with for the moment."

Sylvia Holland explains that the Disney Studio is using up a backlog of pictures on hand and it will be some time before they need the pre-production staff again.

During her years with Disney, this talented artist worked on many outstanding features both on sketches and in the story department where she had a crew of five or six people working with her.

The storm sequence in Bambi was handled by her; she worked on propaganda features for the U.S. government and security projects for the R.A.F. during the war years; she did research work for "History of Music" and most recently was working on a new musical feature which has been shelved for the time being.

"No other studio in Hollywood is like the Disney studio," she tells you.

"Informality is the general rule in everything we do. Heads of departments and the general staff all dress in slacks and open shirts. The offices are unmodern, and the plant is airy and comfortable."

Since the lay-off Sylvia Holland has been working at M-G-M studios.

Right now this artist's greatest interests are her daughter Theo, who is majoring in psychology at Bryn Mawr College; her son Boris, who is in radio technician work in Hollywood and her new rancho-type home in the San Fernando Valley, which is nearing completion.

Next in order is a book she is writing on her experiences in the movie capital.

During her stay in Victoria she has been the guest of her brother-in-law, Mr. Glen C. Holland, Upper Terrace, the Uplands.

Wedding Couple Reside At Sidney

Making their home at Sidney, V.I., on return from their honeymoon motor trip up-island will be Robert Coussmaker Anderson and his bride, the former Eileen Isabelle Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace, Mt. Newton Crossroad, Saanichton.

The bride and the groom, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Braemar Road, Ardmore, Sidney, exchanged marriage vows before Archdeacon W. C. Western, Monday at 8 at St. Stephen's Church, Mt. Newton Crossroad.

Tall lighted candles and masses of gladioli formed an effective setting for the bride. The bride chose a beige suit, brown accessories and corsage bouquet of red rosebuds. She was given in marriage by her father.

Sole bridal attendant, Miss Patricia Delamere, wore a brown suit with powder blue and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of carnations.

Brothers of the bride and groom were in the bridal party. Mac Anderson was best man, and Kenneth Wallace acted as usher.

Guests were received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wallace, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, by the couple, assisted by their mothers. Sweet peas and asters decked the table, where the three-tier cake was centred.

Working Girls Rest And Play At Home Founded By Sisters

MANASQUAN, N.J. (AP) — The "Welcome mat" is out at a sumptuous mansion here for the working girl—the girl whose dreams of a restful vacation land usually are confined to advertisements in newspapers and magazines, the only part of the dream she can afford.

"Sunnyside Farm," comprised of 35 acres nestled in rolling countryside in Wall Township, is operated by the Switzer Foundation as a haven for working girls of modest means. Girls who need a rest make up the ever-changing family at the farm.

Founded by two immigrant sisters of Swiss descent who struggled through poverty to wealth as dressmakers in New York, the home is a monument to two women who knew the problems of the working girl. The sisters came to this country from Ireland, where their family had settled.

Sarah and Margaret Switzer, after serving their apprenticeship, soon were catering to wealthy New York matrons.

As they reached the peak of their financial success, Margaret died, leaving Sarah grief-stricken. Early in 1910, Sarah decided to invest part of her wealth in a home for "down-and-out" girls who had come to New York looking for fame and fortune.

The $150,000 Margaret and Sarah Switzer Foundation for Girls was opened on Dec. 11, 1911, on Christopher Street, New York. Lodgings was 25 cents a night—and the girl who did not have the quarter was welcome anyway.

POSTWAR DEVELOPMENT

As time went on, the lodging was expanded to include the teaching of dressmaking, sewing and other work to unskilled girls.

After the First World War and the changing cycle of economic life, when overwork rather than no work was the order of the day, some girl workers began to become nervous, some chronically ill and weak.

Sarah Switzer, who then had a summer home at Spring Lake, got the idea of a country home for girls, not a lodging house like that in New York, but a rest home. She never saw the foundation erected in the memory of herself and her sister, for she died several years before it was completed in 1923. She left a heavy endowment for the continuation of the work. And so the mansion on the Manasquan Shore replaced the old lodging house in New York.

Girls between 18 and 30 occupy the place—50 at a time—and enjoy bathing, fishing, crabbing, tennis, boating, croquet and other entertainment. They are not permitted to leave the reservation during the stay.

Summer visits are restricted to two weeks, while in the winter, girls may stay a month or more. Due to increased costs, most vacationists now pay $15 a week, but those who haven't the money may pay nothing.

Any working girl from any part of the country is eligible to visit the foundation, providing she has a certificate from a doctor showing she is free from communicable disease and needs a rest. Girls are referred to the Switzer Home through hospitals, social service agencies and medical departments of large corporations.

NOTHING BUT FURS

Three-point strategy for clipping nature on the chin calls for nightly massage with a throat cream, top left, a chin strap, top right, and daily exercise, below, to build strong, fluid muscles.

Tilting with nature to keep time's thrusts from their chin—lines is a sport at which many women excel. Witness the youthful profiles of our mature beauties who are the envy of women over the world.

Mrs. America owes her triumph over nature, however, to a three-point strategy. Mapped out by experts, this calls for good posture, regular skin care and exercise makes every day moving day for neck muscles.

First, good posture. Simplest formula is to hold the head up, spine straight. This practice automatically lines the chin up at a clean right angle with the neck. The woman who bends her neck low and pulls in her chin when she works or reads invites contour "slips." The way many women stave off these "slips" is to tie on a chin strap and wear it whenever privacy permits.

Second, skin care. This calls for the nightly use of a throat cream. Such an emollient usually has a richer lanolin content than a face cream. Applied with an up-and-out movement of the fingers and followed by effleurage massage—gentle but firm upward strokes of the palms—a throat cream should be filmed on at night and worn to bed.

The third step is daily exercise, which is needed to build strong, fluid muscles. One of the best for that purpose is to lie on the back on a bed with the head dangling over the edge. By alternately raising the head parallel with the body and lowering it to its original dangling position, neck muscles are given the maximum workout. The initial count of six for this exercise may be increased daily.

Ideal Color Scheme Soothes Executives, Wives, Pupils

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Take a grey-eyed blonde in a peach-colored dress sitting on a mahogany chair on a rose-beige carpet in an office with pinky-grey walls, and you've got it.

That's a soothing color scheme for the executive, says Carl Smedley, color expert for a paint company.

"Now take the case of the cantankerous business executive who came into our office," Smedley offered. "When the walls of his office were changed from an off-yellow color to a two-tone green, his disposition became as gentle as a lamb's."

"The influence of color upon human lives is terrific."

One lady Smedley told about had a putty-colored kitchen. Along came the painters, left the walls canary yellow, the lower cupboards, stove and refrigerator white, the breakfast nook set and the ceiling delphinium blue.

"That lady wrote us — unolicited," Smedley emphasized,

"that her husband's early morning grouch had disappeared."

Shortage of teachers in your schools? Children have that apathetic attitude about the learning business?

The school Smedley and his cohorts painted had Wedgewood blue on the walls, sunny yellow on the window side and in the cloakroom. The blackboards weren't black at all. They were cream-colored and were written upon with royal blue chalk. It's all there, in Lakewood, Ohio.

INTEREST ZOOMS

"Teacher told us he noticed a definite pick-up of interest among the boys and in himself, too," Smedley said.

"Maybe if we'd dress up the schools we'd get more teachers." Schools, and hospitals, too, are getting away from that institutional look, he said. Green is becoming a favorite color for hospital rooms, because it's restful and because it brings in that outdoor atmosphere.

Factories, too. The machinery of an aeronautics plant in Cleveland was painted a light ocean green. The working areas, parts the workers had to watch closely, were buff and the switch and control levers orange.

Smedley came down to Dallas from a Cleveland paint company to tell the Texas Council of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America meeting here that women were leading the parade in color.

Take the family automobile. Back in 1927, he said, 65 per cent of all cars were painted black or dark blue. Today, black is running third in popularity, with pastel shades of blue and green in front. And the women are the ones who select the color of the family car.

Washing machines and refrigerators are making tentative and timid appearances in green, but white is still undisputed favorite. Blue was tried on a washing machine but it reminded the women too much of "blue Mondays."

House Of Bishops Of Anglican Church Meets In Saskatoon

SASKATOON (CP) — The House of Bishops of the Church of England in Canada began deliberations here today. Next Monday, the General Synod, the governing body of the Anglican Church in this country, of which the House of Bishops is a part, will elect a primate to succeed the late Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen of Toronto.

Eligible for the office, highest within the gift of the church, are all diocesan bishops who are members of the upper house. The acting primacy now is held by Most Rev. W. R. Adams, Archbishop of Kootenay and Metropolitan of British Columbia.

The house began discussions in camera after a conference on the problems of work among Canada's Indians—preliminary to the general sessions of the synod, which will open Tuesday—had elicited the following suggestions:

1. The recruiting of a native ministry to serve the Indian population.
2. Adequate training for workers in the mission fields.
3. The transfer of workers to white parishes after five or 10 years' service in Indian missions.
4. The appointment of a linguist willing to live among the Cree Indians for two or three winters, learn their language and later do some translating.

Delegates termed the lack of funds and personnel as the main difficulty in carrying out an effective ministry among the Indians, and described it as being particularly acute in British Columbia as well as being a problem elsewhere.

In addition, said Canon Harry Hives of the Diocese of Saskatoon, the need is for "more consecrated men and women for the mission fields, with a real sense of the work before them and an understanding of the Indians' approach to life."

Travel Ban Ends Pleasure Trips Of Britons To Foreign Lands

LONDON (AP)—The British government's ban on pleasure travel outside of the sterling area after Oct. 1 means the holiday is over for many Britons who shun overcrowded vacation resorts at home to take their fun in the Swiss Alps, France, Italy and elsewhere on the Continent.

Still stunned by the announcement of the travel restrictions, imposed to save foreign credits, shipping companies, air lines and travel agencies said it was too early to assess the full effects of the order.

Holiday travel to the Continent this year approached an all-time record, with most of the travelers going to Switzerland, and others visiting France, Italy, Holland and Belgium.

United Kingdom citizens who planned their foreign travel for September are not affected by the ban, but it means cancellation of heavy bookings for the winter sports in Switzerland, starting in November.

One of the first results will be to lighten the strain on trans-Atlantic services, both by air and sea.

Cunard White Star, which carries about 20,000 passengers per month in its Atlantic service, refused to speculate on the effects of the restrictions. The line, one of Britain's chief dollar earners, estimated that considerably more than 50 per cent of its passengers are United States citizens.

Three of the most popular holiday areas in the British Isles—Eire, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man—are not affected by the ban. A spokesman for Thomas Cook & Son said next season's rush for these islands would be "terrific."

Under the new regulations only four classes of foreign travel will be permitted: For necessary business purposes, for professional reasons, health cases and for educational reasons.

Many U.S. Veterans Overpaid By $100

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials said here yesterday that pay for overseas service has been given to "thousands" of United States navy men and women who passed through Canada or Mexico while changing United States duty stations.

Travel by air across the Gulf of Mexico also is calculated as service "outside the continental limits of the United States" in paying the extra $100 to personnel being discharged, these navy officials disclosed.

They said they were unable to determine exactly how many had received $300 instead of $200 in mustering-out pay only because the route taken by trains and planes crossed international boundaries. But they added the number undoubtedly runs into the "thousands."

One navy officer said travel drafts sent "many hundreds" of Waves from Hunter's College, New York, to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, via a railroad route that passed through Canada.

Irish Filly May Prove Dark Horse In St. Leger Sept. 13

LONDON (CP)—British racing fans, who still haven't got over the 100 to 1 outsider, Caughoo, winning the Grand National steeplechase, are wondering about another Irish horse whose owner surprised the experts by leaving her in the running for the rich 1 1/2 mile St. Leger, last of Britain's "triple crown" classics for three-year-olds.

The dark horse is a filly, Habiba, owned by H. T. de Vere Clifton of Dublin. Off her form to date Habiba doesn't stand much of a chance in the St. Leger to be run at Doncaster, Sept. 13. In two appearances in maiden races Habiba ran out of the money.

"Probably left in by mistake," was the comment of the authoritative Daily Herald turf writer but already rumors were spreading that Dubliners plan a major coup with the horse they believe has class she has not yet revealed.

The other 15 horses, all colts, presented few surprises. Topping the list are the Aga Khan's Migoli, second in the Derby and currently the favorite at 9 to 4, and French Baron G. De Waldner's Pearl Diver, Derby winner and second favorite at 7 to 2.

DENVER (AP)—Cool, calm Herman Kelsner, the big Akron, O., veteran with the straight iron game, mastered the nerve-wracking Cherry Hills course Thursday with a five under par 66 to take the first round lead in the $15,000 Denver open golf tournament.

Mrs. Elizabeth Spencer, Cadboro Bay, won all awards in the Maltese (Canadian bred) exhibit at the dog show at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver.

THE PENALTY. Blonde Janis Carter pays Glenn Ford's fine for a minor offence, thus starting their dramatic association in Columbia's "Framed," now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Three Top Teams Suffer Setbacks In Coast Baseball

The Coast League is consistent only in its inconsistency this year.

The top three teams, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland, took it on the chin again last night. The Angels fell before San Diego, 5 to 2; the Seals were edged by Sacramento, 3 to 2; and the Oaks were trampled by Portland, 14 to 2.

Hollywood's hot and cold Stars found the right faucet and squirted out 3 to 2 and 4 to 3 wins over Seattle, moving into a fifth-place tie with the Rainiers.

San Diego's Manny Salvo stopped the Angels in all but one frame and received the backing of two homers by Johnny Barrett and one by Frank Kerr, which accounted for all Padre runs. Russ Bauers was the victim.

The Angels' lead remained at 1 1/2 games, however, as the Seals were checked by Charley Ripple's six-hitter. Steve Mesner singled home Jim Warner with the deciding run in the eighth off Bill Werle. Alex Kampouris round tripped for the Seals, Ray Orteig for the Seals.

Portland, bouncing back from two straight setbacks by Oakland, hammered three Acorn pitchers for 18 hits, including homers by Dan Escobar and Harvey Storey. Winner Vince di Biasi coasted in with a fourth-inning effort.

Hollywood got full-length pitching from Ed Albosta and Xavier Rescigno—plus the help of some shaky infelding by Seattle. Tony York's double error gave the Stars two unearned runs in the opener. Clint Conatser's two-run homer put Seattle ahead in the finale, but mental lapses, plus three hits, wrapped it up for Hollywood.

Cotton Selected To Captain British Ryder Cup Squad

STOKE-POGES, Bucks, Eng. (AP)—Headed by Henry Cotton as team captain, three veterans of Britain's 1937 Ryder Cup team again will face the picked professional golfers of the United States when the international matches are resumed at Portland, Oregon, in November.

Cotton, British open champion in 1934 and 1937, was named by the British Professional Golfers' Association to captain the team and six others definitely were chosen to play in the United States. Among them were Sam King and Dai Rees, members of the 1937 team, beaten seven matches to three by the Americans when the Ryder Cup last was played for on the Southport and Alnedale course.

Also named to the team were British open champion Fred Daly, Reg Horne, Jimmy Adams and Charlie Ward. The remaining three places will be filled from a group that includes Laurie Ayton, Ken Bousfield, Fred Bullock, Dick Burton, Max Faulkner, Eric Green, Frank Jowle, Art Lees and Norman Sutton.

Beautiful Joan Caulfield, who stars with Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald in Paramount's "Welcome Stranger," now at the Royal Theatre, has a unique clause in her contract which permits her to take six months off every year for stage appearances, if she so desires.

As yet, Miss Caulfield has not taken advantage of her contract, being quite busy and successful with her movie career. "Welcome Stranger" is her fourth

'Framed,' Thrilling Drama, At Capitol

Here's one for the movie script writers who scream at using coincidence in their stories.

In Columbia's Glenn Ford starrer, "Framed," thrilling drama currently at the Capitol Theatre, Glenn plays a mining engineer who gets a chance to develop a newly discovered silver mine. The script called the mine "Belle Smith No. 2," and placed it near Tombstone, Arizona.

Glenn was started at the coincidence. He had inherited worthless silver stock certificates from his father and they bore the name of "Belle Smith No. 2." When next the actor met script writer Ben Maddow, Glenn remarked at the coincidence. How had Maddow happened to hit on that name for the story? The answer was simple. Maddow's father had likewise bought stock in the now useless mine.

New Screen Team In Action Romance

William Elliott and Constance Moore form a new romantic team in Republic's $1,000,000 action romance, "In Old Sacramento," opening today at the Rio Theatre.

This marks Elliott's debut in a straight romantic role, and he does double duty as he plays the suave, handsome gambler, Steve, and the daring, dashing bandit, "Spanish Jack" who robs stagecoaches and kisses with equal ease.

'Adventure Island' On Dominion Bill

Widely acclaimed as a great picturization of an epic adventure novel, the Pine-Thomas color production of Paramount's "Adventure Island," starring Rory Calhoun, Rhonda Fleming and Paul Kelly, opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

Based on "Ebb Tide," Robert Louis Stevenson's memorable saga of the South Seas, "Adventure Island" is said to have captured magnificently the spectacle, the romance and the excitement which have thrilled generations of the great author's readers. The fascinating characters and action-packed chapters, so well remembered in the literary work, are reported as coming to pulse-pounding life through the magical beauty of the color camera.

"Welcome Stranger" is her fourth starring role in as many films.

Highest Enrollment In Past 20 Years At Normal School

Victoria's Provincial Normal School will open the 1947-48 term Monday with the highest registration in more than 20 years. H. O. English, principal, announced today.

To date 140 students, including 45 men, have sent in their registrations. Mr. English said. Last year there were 117 students, including 26 men. There are 15 ex-service personnel among this year's students. Most of these are men.

The current shortage of teachers, combined with better salaries and working conditions as other high-paid job opportunities drop, are encouraging young people to enter the teaching profession again, Mr. English believes.

Renovation work on the Normal School building is now virtually finished.

Spectacular Rescue
Saves 4 From Fire
At Shelbourne, Ont.

SHELBOURNE, Ont. (CP)—After being perched precariously on a one-foot ledge 40 feet above the sidewalk, four persons were rescued with a ladder by volunteer firemen when flames swept a block of apartments and stores on the main street of this Dufferin County village early today.

Damage to the block, Shelbourne's chief business section, is estimated at $10,000. Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined.

Five-year-old Billy Dinwoody, one of those rescued, was in tears as firemen took him down the ladder. He was not afraid, but feared he had lost his library book borrowed the previous day.

The others rescued were Billy's parents and 80-year-old David Henderson.

Eight families were driven to the street earlier by flames which caused heavy damage to the Berwick Block, chief business building of the community. The four rescued from the ledge had been sleeping and crawled out on it to escape the heavy smoke.

Western Coal Miners
Seeking New Contract

CALGARY (CP)—District 18 United Mine Workers of America has served notice on both bituminous and domestic coal operators in western Canada that the contract now in force will be terminated Nov. 1.

This action could conceivably lead to a strike in western Canadian coalfields as the miners do not work without a contract.

District 18 officials said a district convention would be called Oct. 14 to discuss demands to be made on the operators.

There is no indication of what the miners' demands will be although it is likely they will include wage increases and a larger per ton contribution to the miners' welfare fund. The new action applies only to Alberta mines, however, but changes or strike actions would undoubtedly affect the entire western Canadian field.
